Dr. Sanjeev P Maradur is Associate Professor in Materials Science & Catalysis Division at Poornaprajna Institute of Scientific Research having more than 23 yrs of research experience in the area of catalysis.

- He has done PhD from Shivaji University Kolhapur, India (2006) and worked as Research Scientist in Jubilant Life Sciences Ltd, Noida, India.
- He then moved to South Korea in 2009 for his post-doctoral studies with Prof. R Ryoo at Center for Functional Nanomaterials, Korea Advanced Institute of Science and Technology (KAIST) Prof. Ryoo was one of the contenders for Nobel Prize for Chemistry in 2014.
- He also worked with Prof. K S Yang at Alan MacDiarmid Energy Research Institute (AMERI), Chonnam National University, Gwangju Republic of Korea for one more year.
- In 2011 he went to USA and joined University of Oklahoma at Norman to work with Prof. Kenneth M Nicholas who has a reaction on his name in the literature (Nicholas Reaction). In Nicholas Laboratory, Dr Maradur worked on catalytic conversion of biomass derived polyols to olefins.

Since 2012 he is working at PPISR in the areas of porous materials and biomass valorisation to value added products. At PPISR, he has been involved in industry as well as academic research. He has successfully completed 8 industry sponsored projects and one VGST, Govt of Karnataka sponsored project.

Regarding the academic role as a faculty, the main focus of research of his group is on the synthesis and characterization of nanostructured catalysts for various applications. Dr Maradur's group is working on a class of advanced materials, which share the advantages of both mesostructured materials and polymers of organic frameworks. These polymers provide us with good opportunities for designing novel and innocuous support for heterogenization of a homogeneous catalyst as well as catalysts by itself.

Also, his group is working on conversion of biomass platform chemicals such as glycerol, furfural and bio alcohols to value added products.

➤ Three students have completed their PhD and two students are currently working for PhD program under his guidance. He has published more than 30 papers in reputed journals and has 2 patents granted to his credit.

He is also a recipient of Young Scientist Research Award (2014) and Award for Best Publication (2019) both from Vision Group on Science & Technology Government of Karnataka, India
